Position Description

The College of Education and Human Development is seeking candidates for an open rank position in the Sport Administration program within the Department of Health and Sport Sciences. We are seeking applicants with teaching and research expertise in one or more of the sport management core content areas who can maintain an active research agenda.

The University of Louisville's Sport Administration program's mission is to prepare undergraduate and graduate students with skill sets to become the next generation of leaders, decision makers, and managers in the sport industry. We are accredited by the Commission on Sport Management Accreditation (COSMA), and our BS and MS programs are ranked in the top ten in the nation. For more program information - <http://louisville.edu/education/departments/hss/spad>

The University of Louisville pursues excellence and inclusiveness in its work to educate and serve its community through:

1. teaching diverse undergraduate, graduate, and professional students in order to develop engaged citizens, leaders, and scholars,
2. practicing and applying research, scholarship and creative activity, and
3. providing engaged service and outreach that improves the quality of life for local and global communities.

The University is committed to achieving preeminence as a nationally recognized metropolitan research university.

Louisville is a progressive community of nearly one million people with a robust economy, a vibrant arts scene, a nationally ranked public-school system and a rich history infused with Southern hospitality.

Situated on the banks of the Ohio River, America's 17th largest city boasts a cost of living that is lower than the national average, with a broad range of affordable housing options from high-rise apartments and historic Victorian homes to suburban communities and rural farms.

Duties and Responsibilities

Tenure-track faculty members are expected to teach graduate and undergraduate classes in one or more Sport Management CPC areas, maintain an active research agenda, seek external funding, and contribute to program, department, university, and profession through service.

Minimum Qualifications

- Earned doctorate degree in Sport Administration, Sport Management, or closely related field (ABD candidates should provide an expected graduation date)
- Demonstrated success in college/university teaching experience in one or more COSMA content areas
- Evidence of a focused and impactful research agenda in the field
- Teaching and/or research experience in one or more emerging and/or innovative areas of the sport industry.
- Evidence of seeking or procuring external funding or a willingness to seek external funding
- Relevant work experience in the sport industry

Desired Qualifications

- Experience working with diverse students, faculty, and staff, and the ability to provide evidence of culturally competent pedagogy and successes in advising and mentoring students from underrepresented groups
- Experience working with industry partners to facilitate experiential learning opportunities
- Evidence of successfully utilizing technology in teaching both in the classroom and through distance learning and demonstrated successful teaching in a distance learning modality.
- Experience in translating research into practice for industry practitioners and successful engaged research or teaching collaborations with industry stakeholders.
- Experience in program development and administration related to certificate and practitioner training programs.

Salary: Competitive, based upon qualifications and experience.

Appointment: August 1, 2021.

Application deadline and procedures:

Review of applicants will begin immediately and continue until the position is filled. To ensure full consideration, all application materials should be submitted by January 3, 2021. Applicants must apply online and include additional inquiries with submission.
